Deniz's message: As we approach Remembrance Sunday, we are reminded of the lives lost during the war that made way for others to live. This is a sad time when we become more aware of the repercussions of war. The devastating truth is - however much we remember, however much we grieve and dream of a different kind of world where there is peace, there are still endless conflicts and wars going on around the world. Some of us have friends, family and loved ones living in war zones. Even if we don't, the fact that we are geographically far, does not stop the ongoing loss, grief and devastation.

Let us offer those who are suffering, hurting and grieving because of war, into the hands of a loving Father and pray for comfort and restoration for them.

Let us also remember the One who sacrificed His life for us, so that we may all be able to live free of sin, guilt and shame.

Let us thank our Father in Heaven for His indescribable gift through Jesus, that we might know Him and have life and so work towards bringing the Kingdom of Heaven into this world to see peace and love conquer.
